

Appeal to Voters of Kerala, Tamil Nadu and Puducherry

Dear electors

Tomorrow, what is on offer for you is perhaps the best gift of our country to her citizens. It is the choice to elect your representative and your government.

Our machinery has worked day and night over the last many months to make it possible for each one of you to vote freely and fairly. We have tried to make this a simple and friendly experience too. Now it is your duty to exercise your franchise.

Don't forget to take your EPIC card to the polling booth or other prescribed documents if you have not been given an EPIC.

All of you who are on the electoral roll must come out and press the button of your own future and carry home the ink mark of personal pride on your finger.

Please go by your conscience. Vote without fear. Vote without any inducement.

Election Commission of India

April 12 2011